Comprehensive solutions for Online Loyalty and Incentives programmes

It is a well known fact that it costs five times more to get a new customer than to retain one.

However, keeping customers loyal is no easy feat. You need a compelling offer, competitive prices and a high level of service. In addition to this, you also need to be able to identify, understand and recognise your customers' requirements. This understanding leads to increased sales, repeat visits and improved communication that will encourage them to buy again and again and again.

Over the past ten years, improving Customer Relationship Management has become a key issue for all businesses. In 1999, in the midst of the Internet bubble, Marc Bidou, formed Maximiles with the objective to transform a price driven, volatile audience of internet buyers into loyal customers. A few years later, as E-commerce exceeded the €100billion benchmark (source: Forrester Research, 2006), the Maximiles vision has become more strategic, enabling the company to grow at a healthy rate and expand across Europe.

Listed on Alternext of Euronext Paris, Maximiles now offer a comprehensive range of services to help companies enhance their Customer Management Relationship (Online and Offline), improve loyalty and increase both up-selling and cross-selling.

- Online coalition loyalty programme
- Proprietary motivation programmes
- Incentive and reward programmes
- Email marketing
- Online research and sampling

The Number One Coalition Programme for Online Loyalty

attracting and retaining customers, engendering loyalty and driving profitable customer relationships.

In this booming but increasingly competitive retail environment, the need to create differentiation and retain valuable customers is vital.

We offer an exclusive, unique and high-value proposition within our coalition programme. It is aimed at generating incremental sales from existing and new customers.

We aim to increase basket size and frequency of purchase and deliver profitable customer relationships without eroding valuable margin.

We provide an attractive customer value proposition, enabling multi-collection across a wide range of retail brands and provide a dynamic rewards catalogue offering a variety of desirable products across various categories including travel, books, music, film, gadgets and electrical equipment. We work with our partners to increase customer participation through ongoing development of the programme, tactical promotions, exclusive offers and personalised incentives to increase engagement, motivation and customer experience.

We add value to our partners by collecting rich customer data that enables them to identify profitable customers and communicate more effectively with them.

The leading online loyalty program in Europe

Survey Sampling

Our offer :

- Panel incentivisation
- Panel recruitment
- Survey sampling

An access panel of 1.9 million opted-in members, with 950,000 available in France and 950,000 in the UK.

- Highly profiled data, representative of the population as a whole, available for sampling.
- Wide variety of selections available on our members, including demographics, lifestyle, region, interests, purchase history plus many more.
- Pre-qualification system via our ipoll technology.
- Members predominantly recruited from our online retail partners.
- Regular fresh sample, with 100,000 new members per month.
- Opportunities in Spain by Q4 2007.
- Other European countries available in 2008.

Incentivisation of panels through our points currency

We incentivise our members to complete online surveys through rewarding them with our online currency, ipoints (UK) and Maximiles (France, Spain).

Points can then be redeemed online for a wide selection of gifts, ranging from CD's and DVD's through to flights and holidays. This reward mechanism ensures that our members stay motivated and highly responsive.

We have the tools available to provide selections, which are either representative of the country as a whole, or a highly targeted, depending on your requirement.

Survey Sampling

Fees

We operate on a performance related basis, providing one of the most cost effective routes to generate response. Cost per completed sample depends upon the number of responses required, subject matter, the incidence rate and the length of the survey.

Our experience

We have completed projects in many different areas, including :

- Polls
- Branding
- Media and Entertainment
- Fitness and leisure
- Health
- Food & drink
- FMCG

Example of an ipoll

Our guarantees

Quality and frequency control :

We provide fully opted-in, responsive consumers for your sample. Our members only receive a limited amount of surveys per year, to ensure that we don't use "professional survey completers".

Speed :

We can typically apply fast turnaround to any type of sample due to the size of our database.

Effectiveness :

Owing to the scale and depth of data that we have on our customers and the volume of members generated, we are able to complete a wide variety of projects.

ipolls :

we run "ipolls" or mini-surveys via our website home page. This allows us to pre-qualify our users for surveys and to gather niche information that is not readily available in the market place. This increases responses and maximises your ROI.

Our technical partner

AreYouNet.com, our preferred partner, can undertake the scripting and hosting of your survey as well as collating all the responses and delivering full reports.

Our clients

OMD, IFOP, GfK-NOP, Opinion Way, Zenith Optimedia, La Cegos, Panels&Media, OTX...

Direct Marketing

Market your products and services directly to our highly-qualified database of members.

Maximiles / ipoints allows companies to market their products and services directly to their members in the UK, France and Spain.

Our Members

Predominantly recruited through over 110 retail partners, our 3.5 million members represent some of the most active online shoppers and sophisticated web users. Our member base continues to rise at a rate of 100,000 every month.

Through sophisticated tracking and data mining, we can provide some of the most intuitive selections available to optimise your media brief. As well as basic demographics and lifestyle data we can provide purchasing history & intentions and category & product interests.

Highly Targeted Campaigns

- ipolls (mini surveys) for data collection

Through our ipoll technology we can collect niche information for lead generation and DM campaigns.

- Data Services

We offer a full range of services to access our members and suit your needs

	ipoints UK	Maximiles France

Motivation Awards 2006 - Best Staff Loyalty Programme

HCL PLC is one of the largest and fastest-growing specialist healthcare staffing businesses in the UK. This industry has traditionally seen very little loyalty with Healthcare staff signing up to many different agencies. ipoints developed VIPpoints as a means of addressing and recognising the status of locums, and highlighting their importance to the business by rewarding the amount of hours worked by their locum staff.

Results

- 1st year target of 1,000 registered locums was exceeded by 73%
- Revenue targets have been exceeded by 4%
- Internal staff productivity increased by 40%
- Level of locum staff churn decreased by 9%
